PREFACE

In 1893, Doctor Reynold Webb Wilcox published a small book, of eighty-four pages, entitled "The Descendants of William Wilcoxson, Vincent Meigs, and Richard Webb." In the years following, he collected further data on these subjects, and planned another book. Before his material was compiled, Doctor Wilcox died, on June 6, 1931.

In May, 1935, Mrs. Reynold Webb Wilcox, placed under the direction of The National Historical Society preparation of a manuscript for the book which her husband had planned. She desired that all the material in his early book should be used, so far as possible, that his wording should be followed, in general, and that what seemed useful in the data he had gathered, subsequent to his said early publication, should be added to his original material. This work was undertaken and carried to completion by Georgia Cooper Washburn, Contributing Editor of The Journal of American Genealogy (one of the magazines of The National Historical Society), author of "Witter Genealogy," compiler of "Seldens of Virginia and Allied Families," and of a number of other Genealogies.

In the course of her work, Miss Washburn discovered a few obvious discrepancies in the early work of Doctor Wilcox on the Wilcox family. He, doubtless, would have discovered these and corrected them, had he been in this world when the new manuscript was prepared. The attention of Mrs. Wilcox was called to these discrepancies, and she authorized research by Miss Washburn, in original documentary records of Connecticut, whereby the errors in question were corrected.

It is patently just to Doctor Wilcox to state that, were he now living, the present publishers believe that he would be very willing to authorize more extended research on the English antecedents of the first American ancestors in the three families of his interest, Wilcox, Webb, and Meigs, than he had made for his earlier book. When the greater part of his work was done, it was far less frequent than now for an American genealogical author to seek expert research-service as to the pre-American ancestry of our old families. It is the opinion of the present publishers that thorough, critical research in England probably would disclose several generations, at least, of the lineages of William Wilcoxson (Wilcox), Richard Webb, and Vincent Meigs, founders of their families in America. Should any reader of this book desire to consider the matter of such research in England, or further research here, on any of the three families treated, the publishers would be glad to make explicit recommendations.

In September, 1935, the compilation for the new and enlarged edition of Doctor Wilcox' book was finished. Mrs. Wilcox did not feel free, at that time, to place the work in the publishers' hands; but expressed her intention to do so, at a later period. On April 28, 1937, she requested The National Historical Society's co-operation in connection with the new publication. Before arrangements were completed, however, Mrs. Wilcox departed from this life, on May 15, 1937.

In 1938, the intentions of Doctor Reynold Webb Wilcox, to issue a second book on the Wilcox, Webb, and Meigs families, and of Mrs. Wilcox, to carry out his wish, were fulfilled by the generous endeavor and co-operation of their friend, Miss Amanda Schoonover, of New York City. Miss Schoonover is the daughter of the late Warren Schoonover, M.D., a close friend of Doctor Wilcox. In Mrs. Wilcox' Will, she made provision for the publication of this book, to be executed under the direction of Miss Amanda Schoonover.

It seems to the publishers that, while, of course, Doctor Reynold Webb Wilcox is the author of this book, and should receive the gratitude of all Wilcox, Webb, and Meigs descendants for his many years work in gathering these ancestral records, there, also, should be rendered warm appreciation to the service of Mrs. Wilcox and Miss Schoonover in bringing this book to achievement.

Thanks also are due, especially from descendants of the Webb family, to Harrison Emmett Webb, Esquire, of Summit, New Jersey. Mr. Webb contributed valuable addenda to the Webb history in this book, as is mentioned subsequently in that part entitled "Webb Appendix."

WILCOXSON-WILCOX FAMILY

FIRST GENERATION

WILCOX

FIRST GENERATION

The surname of this family is spelled variously, as Wilcocks, Wilcox, Wilcoxson, and similar forms. In the early history of the lineage to be described, the spelling, Wilcoxson, frequently was used, but this soon was altered to Wilcox, and the latter form of the name is used in the greater part of the following history. The family is believed to have been of Anglo-Saxon origin, and it is said that fifteen generations of its lineage were recorded as living in Suffolk, at Bury St. Edmund's. In the reign of King Edward III, Sir John Wilcox was entrusted with several important commands, and led the cross-bow men from Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex, against the French, at the Battle of Crécy, in 1346. John William Wilcox, of Bury Priory, was a distinguished representative of the Suffolk branch of the family, in the latter Nineteenth Century.

In 1851, the name was recorded, under several forms, as of families bearing Coat-Armor, and seated in a number of English Shires. It was not then found in Suffolk. It is indicated that the ancient Arms, from which several other blazons were developed, were those recorded, in 1851, for Wilcocks of Kent. This Coat, without Crest, probably was used prior to the introduction of Crests in English heraldry, which was about 1250. It has been reproduced for this history.

1 WILLIAM[1] WILCOXSON, of Stratford, Connecticut, was born at St. Albans, Hertfordshire, England, in 1601. On April 2, 1635-6, he sailed from London on the ship, "Planter," with his wife, Margaret, aged twenty-four, and their son, John, aged two, arriving at Concord, in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, May 26, and the same year became a freeman of the Colony. He removed to Stratford in 1639, and was a Deputy from that town to the Connecticut Legislature, which met at Hartford, in 1647. His will, dated May 29, 1651, named his wife, Margaret; his eldest son; "the rest of my sons;" his daughters; and bequeathed forty pounds to the church at Concord. It named as overseers for the distribution of his estate, Adam Blackman, Thomas Thornton, Philip Grove and William Beardsley. The inventory was dated June 16, 1652.

William Wilcoxson died at Stratford in 1652. His widow, Margaret, married William Hayden of Windsor, Connecticut. An agreement made by his children and heirs was dated October 22, 1668, the heirs being as follows: the widow, Margaret, "now Hayden;" Henry and Elizabeth Stiles; Daniel and Hannah Hayden; John and Sarah Meigs; and John, Joseph, Phebe, Timothy, Johanna, Samuel and "Obadias" (Obadiah) Wilcoxson.

SECOND GENERATION

2 JOHN[2] WILCOXSON (William[1]) was born in 1633, in England. He accompanied his parents to Massachusetts, living first at Concord and later at Boston for a number of years. After the removal of his father to Stratford, Connecticut, the latter sent a message to his son, telling him that if he would also settle at Stratford, he would give him half of his property. John Wilcoxson removed to Stratford, where he lived near the meeting house, and was a deacon in the church. He married, first, a daughter of Daniel Titherton, whose Christian name does not appear. Her father's will, made in 1660, named his daughter, "Wilcocks." The second wife of John Wilcoxson, whom he married at Stratford, March 19, 1662-3, was Elizabeth (Bourn) Welles, widow of John Welles of Concord, a son of Governor Thomas Welles. The marriage appears in Stratford Vital Records as follows, under the surname "Wilcoxson:" "John, m. Eli (sa) beth Wells, wid. Mar. 19, 1662/3." He died at Stratford in November, 1690. 4 TIMOTHY[2] WILCOXSON (William[1]) was born about 1637. Winthrop, in 1660, called him of Stratford, aged twenty-three, and mentioned that his mother was the wife of William Hayden of Windsor. In 1658 he called him aged twenty. He was a deacon in the church at Stratford. He married, December 28, 1664, Johanna, daughter of John Birdsey, Senior, of Stratford. She died in August, 1713. He died at Stratford, January 13, 1713, the record adding, "Apparently the date should be 1710-1." The inventory of his estate is dated February 9, 1710-1. A record dated October 7, 1713, shows that his widow, Johanna, had died without completing the administration of her husband's estate, and Robert Walker and Joseph Hawley were appointed administrators. The will of Johanna, widow of Timothy Wilcoxson, dated August 4, 1713, names grandchild, Phebe Fairchild, the daughter of the testatrix's son-in-law, Joseph Fairchild, "late of Stratford dec'd;" granddaughter, Sarah Fairchild; daughters (not named); and gives residue to children of Joseph Fairchild and Joanna, his wife, both deceased.

5 SAMUEL[2] WILCOXSON (William[1]) was born about 1640.[3] Winthrop, in 1658, called him seventeen or eighteen years of age. In 1667 he removed to Windsor, Connecticut, but, on receiving a grant of land in the nearby Simsbury, settled in that place. He was Sergeant of the Train Band at Simsbury, the militia of the towns being so called. He was deputy to the legislature from Simsbury, May and June, 1869; May and October, 1694; October, 1695; October, 1696; May and October, 1697; January and May, 1698; May, 1699; May, 1700; May and October, 1701; May and August, 1710; May, 1711; and May, 1712. He is said to have died at Simsbury, another record says at Meadow Plain, Connecticut, March 12, 1712-13. An agreement of his heirs, dated March 12, 1712-13, namely, his children, Samuel, William, Joseph and Margaret. This branch of the

6 OBADIAH[2] WILCOXSON (William[1]) was born about 1648. His surname appears as Wilcox in some records, and his descendants used the shortened form of the name. He settled in Killingworth, Connecticut, removing before 1676 to East Guilford, which later became the town of Madison. He died there in 1713-14. He was made a freeman in 1672. His first wife was Mary, daughter of Michael Griswold. She was born at Wethersfield, Connecticut, January 28, 1650, and died at Killingworth, August 8, 1670. Her father's will, dated September 10, 1678, is recorded in the Hartford Probate District. It is here given in abstract, from the transcript in Manwaring's Probate Records. "Griswold, Michael. Her father's will, dated May 6, 1689, named his grandchildren, Ebenezer and Mary "Wilcocks." He married, third, Silence, daughter of Joseph Mansfield. She was born at New Haven, October 24, 1664. After her husband's death, she married, in 1719, George Chatfield, of Killingworth. Obadiah Wilcoxson (or Wilcox) was released from military training in November, 1694, because of lameness. His will was dated December 18, 1710, and proved November 1, 1714. It named his wife, Silence; son, Ebenezer, to whom he gave land in Durham; his son, John, who received land at "Hassaka Gusell;" son, Joseph, who received land at Guilford; daughters, Mary, Mindwell, Jemima and Thankful; and mentioned sons, Obadiah and Timothy, deceased. The inventory of his estate was dated October 28, 1714. 16 JOHN[3] WILCOX (Obadiah,[2] William[1]) was born November 9, 1692. His birth appears in the Vital Records of Guilford, Connecticut, as of that date, and he is called "John, s. Obadiah & Silens." He died May 1, 1753. He married, January 11, 1716, Deborah, daughter of Sergeant John and Mary (Mason) Parmelee. She was born in 1700 and died in 1792. They lived in East Guilford, which later became Madison, Connecticut. In Guilford Vital Records, the youngest child of John and Deborah Wilcox is recorded as their daughter, Mary, born in 1731, while, from other data, their youngest child was a son, Asahel, born in 1735.

FOURTH GENERATION

18 JOHN[4] WILCOXSON (John,[3] John,[2] William[1]) was born about 1684, and died at Stratford, Connecticut, September 12, 1748, in his sixty-fifth year, as appears on his gravestone. He is called Lieutenant. He married, first, in June, 1707, Elizabeth Tomlinson. She was born August 11, 1684. He is stated to have had by her two sons. He married, second, March 19, 1713, Sarah Curtis, who "died soon," and by whom he had no children. His third wife was Deborah Brinsmade, whom he married January 13, 1714-15. She was born about 1692, and died about 1758. Her will, dated November 12, 1757, was proved February 17, 1758. His will was dated May 13, 1748, and was proved October 4, 1748. It is here given from the original.

Children of John and Elizabeth (Tomlinson) Wilcoxson:

52 i Josiah Wilcoxson.
ii Timothy Wilcoxson.

Children of John and Deborah (Brinsmade) Wilcoxson:

iii Elizabeth Wilcoxson; born in September, 1715; married Moses Wheeler of White Hills, Connecticut.

iv Hannah Wilcoxson; born in October, 1716; married Ebenezer Thompson of Stratford.

53 v David Wilcoxson.

vi Rebecca Wilcoxson; born March 5, 1720; married Nathan Burritt of Newtown, Connecticut.

54 vii John Wilcoxson.

viii Ruth Wilcoxson; born November 11, 1723.

55 ix Samuel Wilcoxson.

56 x Ephraim Wilcoxson.

xi Deborah Wilcoxson; born April 5, 1731; married Oliver Toucey of Newtown, Connecticut.

John[4] Wilcoxson is named as son of John[3] (John,[2] William[1]) in Orcutt's History of Stratford, who gives him the title Lieutenant, and states that his first wife was Sarah Curtis, and his second Deborah Brinsmade, naming his children as Elizabeth, Hannah, David, Rebecca, John, Ruth, Samuel, Ephraim and Deborah. Josiah is not named as his son by Orcutt nor is Timothy. Mr. Jacobus, in his "Old Fairfield Families," states that the first wife of John[4] Wilcoxson of Stratford was Elizabeth Tomlinson, by whom he had two sons (unnamed), giving the second and third wives as Sarah Curtis and Deborah Brinsmade. It is probable that Josiah and Timothy, named as sons of John Wilcoxson of Stratford in the First Edition of the Wilcox genealogy, are these two unnamed sons. Stratford Vital Records gives these three marriages of John Wilcoxson with the above dates.

19 TIMOTHY[4] WILCOXSON (John,[3] John,[2] William[1]) was born in 1711. He died in 1797, aged eighty-six. He married, first, Abigail Platt of Newtown, Connecticut. This marriage is found in the Vital Records of Stratford, in which he is called "of Stratford." She died July 30, 1744, and he married, as his second wife, Hannah Hawley, on July 4, 1745.

Children of Timothy and Abigail (Platt) Wilcoxson:

i Joanna Wilcoxson; born February 11, 1741-2.

ii Abigail Wilcoxson; born May 5, 1743; died the same year.

iii Timothy Wilcoxson; born July 22, 1744.

Child of Timothy and Hannah (Hawley) Wilcoxson:

iv Abigail Wilcoxson.

20 WILLIAM[4] WILCOXSON (John,[3] John,[2] William[1]) died at Stratford about 1754. He married, December 11, 1712, Esther Brinsmade, the record of the marriage appearing in the Vital Records of Stratford. She was born about 1689, and died about 1785. Her will was dated December 4, 1777, and proved April 22, 1785.

Children of William and Esther (Brinsmade) Wilcoxson:

i Susannah Wilcoxson; born November 7, 1713; married Samuel Preston, April 19, 1741.

ii Hester Wilcoxson; born February 28, 1715.

iii Mary Wilcoxson; born in November, 1716.

iv Sarah Wilcoxson; born June 6, 1719; married Ephraim Wheeler.

v Joseph Wilcoxson; born September 19, 1721.

vi Anne Wilcoxson; baptized in March 1723-4.

57 vii William Wilcoxson.

58 viii Nathan Wilcoxson.

Names of the children of William and Esther (Brinsmade) Wilcoxson are from Orcutt's History of Stratford, which places him as son of John[2] Wilcoxson (William[1]), born in 1659. Jacobus, in his "Old Fairfield Families," places the William Wilcoxson who married Esther (or Hester) Brinsmade, as son of John[3] Wilcoxson (John,[2] William[1]), stating that there is no record of William's birth, but that he died at Stratford in 1754, his will being dated January 11, in that year, and giving the date of his marriage to Esther Brinsmade as December 11, 1712, her birth as about 1689, her death as about 1785; her will dated December 4, 1777, proved April 22, 1785. In Stratford Vital Records, under the surname "Wilcoxson," appears: "William, m. Hester Brinsmead, Dec. 11, 1712." It is probable that Mr. Jacobus is correct in placing this William as son of John[3] Wilcoxson, instead of John[2], as does Orcutt. The birth year of John[4] (son of John[3]), was 1684, and he married, as his second wife, Deborah Brinsmade, in 1714-15. If William Wilcoxson of this biography was born in 1659, and the son of John[2], as stated by Orcutt, his marriage to Esther Brinsmade in 1712 would have been made in his fifty-third year and the birth of their youngest child, as given by Orcutt in 1729, would have been when he was in his seventieth year. Mr. Jacobus is an authority on Fairfield County genealogy.

21 JOSEPH[4] WILCOX (Joseph,[3] Joseph,[2] William[1]) was born January 17, 1695, and died September 29, 1747. He is called Deacon, and resided in Killingworth, Connecticut. He married, August 13, 1724, Rebecca Hurd.

34 JOHN[4] WILCOX (John,[3] Joseph,[2] William[1]) is stated to have been born January 1, 1704-5, and to have married Grace, daughter of Daniel and Jerusha (Stevens) Griswold of Killingworth, Connecticut. This record is undoubtedly erroneous, as it is known to a descendant of John and Grace (Griswold) Wilcox, that his ancestor, John Wilcox, was a grandson of Obadiah[2] Wilcox and not of Joseph[2] Wilcox. This John Wilcox of the fourth generation, whose biography is here given, son of John[3] Wilcox (Joseph,[2] William[1]) may be the John Wilcox whose marriage appears in the Vital Records of Guilford, Connecticut, as follows, under the surname, Wilcox: "John, m. Martha Coe, b. of Guilford, Jan. 17, 1739/40." The date of this marriage agrees with the birth year of John, son of John[3] and grandson of Joseph[2] Wilcox. The branch which settled in Guilford, first living in the nearby Killingworth, spelled the surname Wilcox. It was thought that the John who married Martha Coe in 1739-40 was a son of John Wilcoxson of Stratford, but, with that supposition, his birth year was given as 1726, and, if he married in 1739-40, he would have then been aged about fourteen. There is no evidence that he was of the Stratford branch, except in the first generation. Obadiah[2] and Joseph,[2] sons of the first of the lineage, William Wilcoxson of Stratford, both left that place and settled in Killingworth and Guilford, their descendants remaining in that locality. The John who married Martha is stated to have lived in Middletown, Connecticut, but no evidence is given. It is certain that when he married Martha Coe they were both of Guilford, as shown in the marriage record. He may have lived in Middletown later. John[4] Wilcoxson, son of John[3] of Stratford, is stated in Orcutt's History of Stratford to have married a wife whose Christian name was Sarah, his birth year given as 1727. This date would also make him too young to have married in 1739-40. Martha Coe, who married John Wilcox in 1739-40 is undoubtedly Martha, daughter of Robert[4] Coe, and his wife Barbara (Parmelee) Coe. It is stated that all their children, except their son, Jedediah, were baptized in Durham, Connecticut, and that the Coe families of Torrington, Winsted, Guilford and Madison were descended from them. Their daughter, Martha, was born March 21, 1712-13. Her brother, Jedediah Coe, born in 1725, married Elizabeth Wilcox, daughter of Joseph[3] Wilcox (Obadiah,[2] William[1], first cousin of John[4] Wilcox, of this biography. This Elizabeth, born in 1728, married Jedediah Coe in 1753.[7] From these dates, it is seen that John[4] Wilcox, of this biography, grandson of Joseph[2] Wilcox, is of the right period and place to have married Martha Coe. No other John appears who lived in Guilford and had the birth date to make him her probable husband.

It is known to his descendants that John Wilcox of this biography married Grace, daughter of Lieutenant Daniel and Jerusha (Stevens) Griswold of Killingworth, Connecticut. WILCOXSON-WILCOX FAMILY

FIFTH GENERATION

52 JOSIAH[5] WILCOXSON (John,[4] John,[3] John,[2] William[1]) is called "son of John of Stratford," in the First Edition of the Wilcox genealogy. No Josiah appears as a son of John[3] Wilcoxson, in Stratford Vital Records, or in the authoriative work by Mr. Jacobus on old families of Fairfield County, Connecticut, while Orcutt, in his history of Stratford, names Josiah Wilcoxson as "son of ———," and calls him "of Ripton." Ripton was a parish of the town of Stratford, Connecticut. He is here placed as son of John Wilcoxson of the fourth generation in Stratford, and he is probably one of the two unnamed sons of that John Wilcoxson by his first wife, Elizabeth Tomlinson, whom he married in 1707, the other son being Timothy. In the First Edition of the Wilcox genealogy, Josiah Wilcoxson is called "of White Hills, Ct.," and it is significant that Elizabeth Wilcoxson, daughter of John Wilcoxson of the fourth generation in Stratford, here placed as sister of Josiah Wilcoxson of this biography, married Moses Wheeler of White Hills. Josiah Wilcoxson married Elizabeth, daughter of Josiah and Martha Hubbell of Stratford, June 18, 1735. She was born March 15, 1713-14. Her birth and marriage appear in Stratford Vital Records. Their children, as here given, appear in Orcutt's history of Stratford, with the exception of Ezra, who is named as a son of Josiah Wilcoxson of this biography in data collected for the Second Edition of the Wilcox genealogy, and of Ruth, Elizabeth, Huldah, Martha, Elisha, and Abiah, none of whom appear among his children as given by Orcutt.

195 REYNOLD WEBB[8] WILCOX (Vincent Meigs,[7] Zenas,[6] Joseph,[5] Joseph,[4] Joseph,[3] Obadiah,[2] William[1]) was born in Madison, Connecticut, March 29, 1856. He was baptized at Clinton, Connecticut, by Right Reverend John Williams, D.D., LL.D.

He graduated from Yale University, with the Degree of Bachelor of Arts, in 1878. Continuing his studies at other seats of learning, he received the following Degrees: Master of Arts, Hobart College, 1881; Doctor of Medicine, Harvard University, 1881; Doctor of Laws, Maryville College, 1892; Doctor of Civil Law, Wittenberg College, 1915.

Doctor Wilcox was a leader in the first rank of American physicians, a world-recognized authority on many subjects in his profession. He was a voluminous writer, Editor of many medical journals, and held office as President or Vice-President of many medical and scientific societies, of a number of which he was also a Fellow. Among the institutions and organizations with which he was connected were the following:

Manhattan General Hospital, New York County Medical Society, Woman's Hospital, New York Post-Graduate Medical School, Neurological Society, New York Academy of Medicine (of which he was Fellow), Bellevue Hospital, Harvard Medical Society, St. Mark's Hospital, American Therapeutic Society (of which he was a Fellow), Nassau Hospital, American Association for the Advancement of Science (of which he was a Fellow), New York Society of Medical Jurisprudence, Eastern Long Island Hospital, American College of Physicians (of which he was an Incorporator and a Fellow), New Jersey State Hospital, and numerous others.

Doctor Wilcox belonged to many religious, patriotic, and civic societies. He was an Episcopalian. Among the non-medical organizations to which, as a member or officer, he rendered valuable and highly appreciated service were these: Society of Colonial Wars, New York Society, Sons of the Revolution, General Society, War of 1812, New York Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Harvard Alumni Association, Yale Alumni Association, Sons of Veterans, Society of American Wars, New York Athletic Club, Manhattan Club, Harvard Club, Metropolitan Club, Democratic Club, St. Nicholas Club, Calumet Club, Army and Navy Club, Medical Officers Reserve Corps, U. S. A. (of which he was Major in 1917, and became Lieutenant-Colonel in 1924), Military Order of Foreign Wars, American Legion, New England Society, American Editors and Authors Medical Asso-cation, National Geographic Society, Reserve Officers Association of the United States, and many more. He was a Communicant of Grace Church, New York.

The home of Doctor Wilcox was in New York City, and his country residence was at Madison, Connecticut. He died June 6, 1931, and his body's resting-place is in the Fountain Cemetery, at Deep River, Connecticut.

All members of the Wilcox, Meigs, and Webb families owe a debt of gratitude to Reynold Webb Wilcox. Throughout his life, he was interested in the history of his ancestry. In 1893, he published a book on the subject, entitled "The Descendants of William Wilcoxson, Vincent Meigs, and Richard Webb." Continuing to gather records on these families, he planned a second edition of this early book. The material thus gathered, however, proved so much more extensive than what had been included in the first volume, that its compilation (the present volume), should be considered as a new and distinct work of Doctor Wilcox. Its preparation for the press and publication have been made possible by the generous devotion of his widow, Mrs. Grace (Clarkson) Wilcox.

Doctor Reynold Webb Wilcox married, first, June 5, 1895, Frances Maud, daughter of Samuel Weeks, of New York City. By this marriage, he had a daughter, Valerie Weeks Wilcox, born June 29, 1904, and who died August 25, 1904.

Doctor Wilcox married, second, Grace, daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel Floyd Clarkson. Mrs. Wilcox descends from Robert Clarkson, of Bradford, England, who died in 1630, and whose wife was Agnes Lilly. Reverend David Clarkson, son of the said Robert and Agnes, born in February, 1621-1622, and who died June 14, 1686, married, 1662-1663, Elizabeth, daughter of Matthew Kenrick, of London.

Matthew Clarkson, son of Reverend David and Elizabeth (Kenrick) Clarkson, was born in 1666, and died July 20, 1702. He came to America, and was Secretary of the Province of New York. January 19, 1692, he married Catharina, daughter of Gerritse Van Schaick, of Albany, New York. She died also in 1702.

Matthew Clarkson, Junior, son of the foregoing, was born in April, 1699, and died in 1739. On June 1, 1718, he married Cornelia, daughter of Johannes De Peyster. She was born in 1695, and died May 23, 1753.

Gerardus Clarkson, M.D., son of Matthew and Cornelia (De Peyster) Clarkson, was born in 1737. He became Treasurer of the College of Physicians, at Philadelphia. He died September 19, 1790. The wife of Doctor Clarkson was Mary Hawes.

Reverend William Clarkson, son of Doctor Gerardus and Mary (Hawes) Clarkson, was born November 7, 1763, and died September 9, 1812. He married Catherine, daughter of General William Floyd, Signer of the Declaration of Independence. She was born April 24, 1767.

Samuel Floyd Clarkson, son of Reverend William and Catherine (Floyd) Clarkson, was born May 29, 1797. He died December 31, 1868. On November 14, 1826, he married Amelia Ann, daughter of William Freeman. She died September 7, 1870.

Lieutenant-Colonel Floyd Clarkson, son of Samuel Floyd and Amelia Ann (Freeman) Clarkson, was born February 27, 1831. In the Civil War, he served as Major of the 6th and 12th New York Cavalry, U. S. V., later becoming Lieutenant-Colonel. He died January 2, 1894. On October 27, 1857, he married Harriet Anna, daughter of John Van Boskerk, of New York City.

Grace Clarkson, daughter of Colonel Floyd and Harriet Anna (Van Boskerk) Clarkson, married Reynold Webb Wilcox, M.D., LL.D., author of this book. As stated above, she is the donor of the work to the descendants of William Wilcoxson, Richard Webb, and Vincent Meigs, by her provision of funds for the compilation of Doctor Wilcox' genealogical material in order for the press. It is her desire to do the same for the publication of the work.

It should be mentioned, perhaps, that the biographical accounts of Doctor Reynold Webb Wilcox, and of his wife, Mrs. Grace (Clarkson) Wilcox, have been written by one who has been privileged to direct the compilation of Doctor Wilcox' material into book-form.

Since these biographies were written, Mrs. Wilcox' earthly life has ended. She died on May 15, 1937.

196 VINCENT FISKE[8] WILCOX (Charles Morrison,[7] Zenas,[6] Joseph,[5] Joseph,[4] Joseph,[3] Obadiah,[2] William[1]) was born September 18, 1865. He lived in Passaic, New Jersey. He married, April 20, 1898, Jessie Wilhelmina, daughter of Jacob Schill of Paterson, New Jersey.

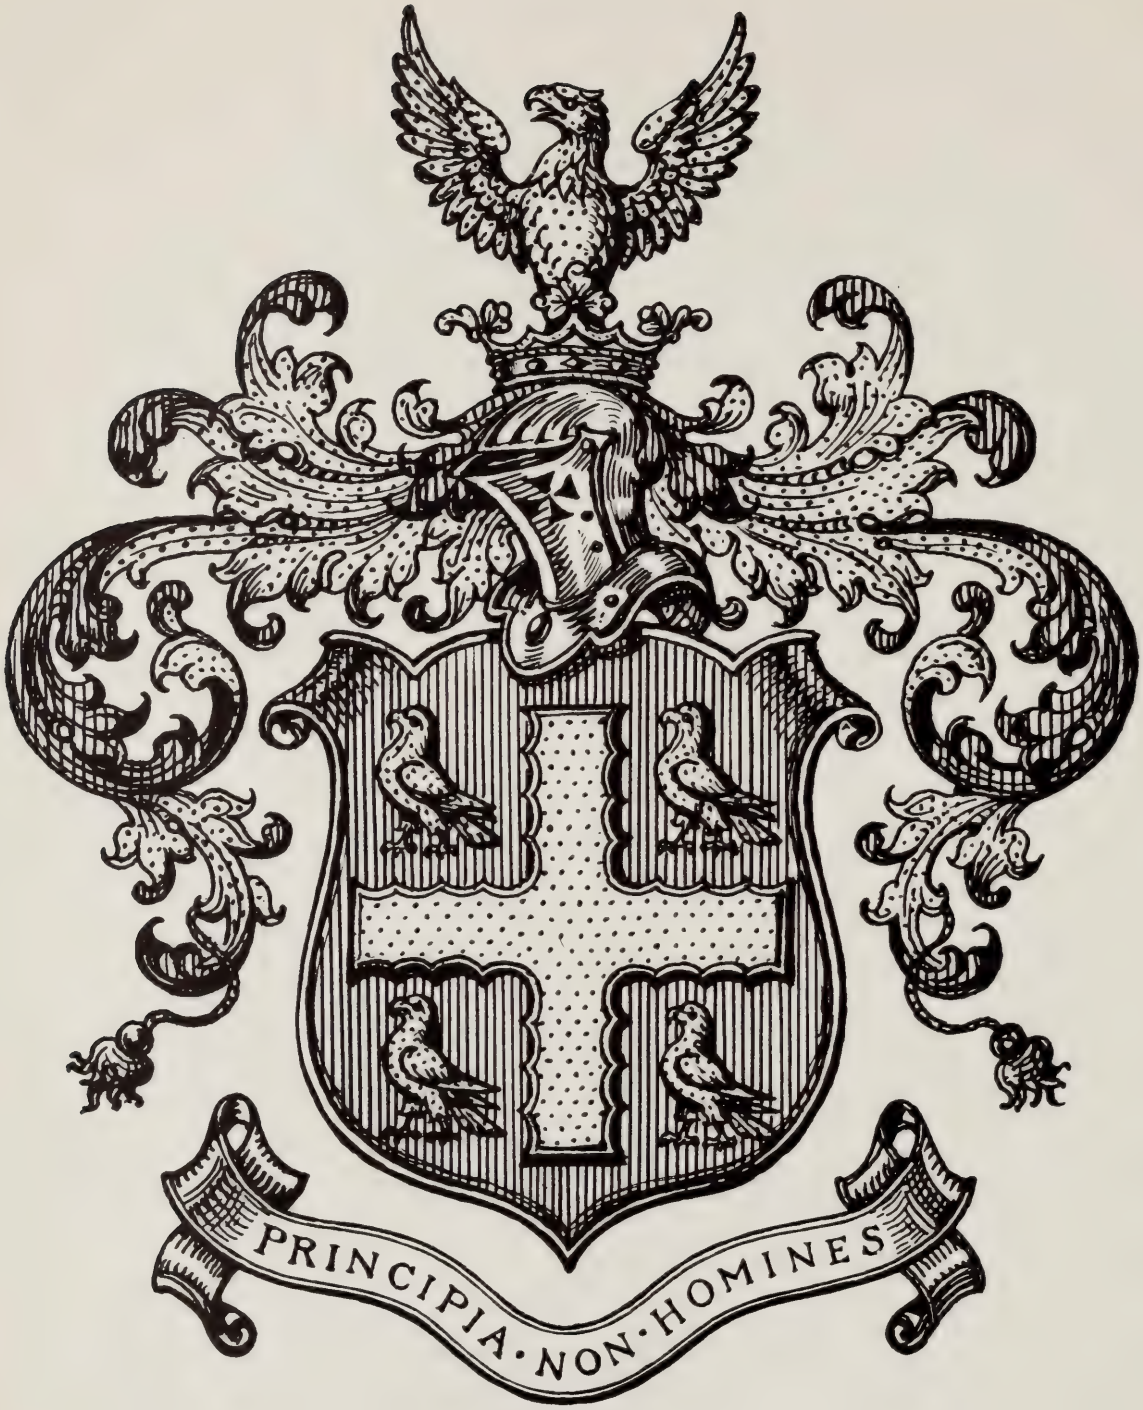
WEBB FAMILY

FIRST GENERATION



WEBB

WEBB FAMILY

FIRST GENERATION—PREFATORY NOTE

The American family of Webb whose lineage is here set forth is said to descend from a branch of the Webbs of Motcomb, County Dorset, England, who bore Coat-Armor, granted June 15, 1577, blazoned as follows:

> Gules, a cross humettée engrailed between four falcons or.
> Crest: Out of a ducal coronet a demi-eagle displayed or.
> Motto: Principia non homines.

William Shakespeare, the dramatist, was descended from the Webb family through both his parents, his father, John Shakespeare, being the son of Richard and Abigail (Webb) Shakespeare. His mother, Mary (Arden) Shakespeare, was the daughter of Robert Arden of Wylmcote, near Stratford, and his wife, Mary (Webb) Arden.

Richard Webb, the first American ancestor of this lineage, is said to have descended from the Arden family, as follows: Sir Henry Webb married Grace Arden (1533). Their son, Alexander Webb, married Margaret Arden. Their son, Alexander Webb, Junior, married Mary Wilson, and they are said to have been the parents of Richard Webb of the first generation in America, who was their eldest child. Their other children are given as William, born in 1584, who went to America and was a merchant of Norfolk, Virginia; Elizabeth, born in 1588; John, born in 1597; Christopher, birth year not given, who went to America and lived at Boston and Braintree, Massachusetts; and Henry, born in 1601, who was of Salisbury, Wiltshire, England, and Boston, Massachusetts. Another account says that three brothers, Richard, Christopher, and William Henry Webb came to America and were sons of Henry Webb of the court of Henry VIII and Queen Katherine Parr, that Henry Webb being a son of Sir Richard Webb, born in Gloucestershire, in 1454. This is too early a date for him to have been grandfather of emigrants to America in the Seventeenth Century.

[The foregoing statements are based on the early work by Doctor Reynold Webb Wilcox, described in the Preface to the present book. It is obvious that critical research is needed, before any authenticated record can be given of the English ancestry of Richard Webb, founder of the American family, treated herein. His birth-place, in Warwickshire, when verified, may indicate his kinship to a branch seated in a Shire nearer to Warwick than is Dorset (where, as said above, were seated, at Motcomb, Webbs, who are believed ancestors of Richard, the American colonist.

Study of various Webb blazons, however, shows that branches of the family, in several Counties, bore Coat-Armor very similar to that of the Dorset Webbs. Such branches have been seated in Wiltshire, Gloucestershire, Kent, and elsewhere. These lines, undoubtedly, have common ancestry with the Dorset Webbs. Other lines, in various English localities, use entirely different Arms, and seem unrelated to the Dorset family.]

FIRST GENERATION

1 RICHARD[1] WEBB was born at Bearly, Warwickshire, England, four miles from "Henley in Arden," May 5, 1580. His birth year is also given as, perhaps, 1584. He died in Connecticut in 1656.[1] With his brothers, Christopher and Henry, and his son, Richard Webb, Junior, he sailed for America, arriving in Massachusetts in 1629, other records giving the year as 1626. He is said to have lived at Cambridge and at Braintree. He was made a freeman of the Colony at Boston in 1632, and in 1639 was a member of the company which went to the Connecticut River with Reverend Thomas Hooker and founded the Hartford Colony. He was a member of the first Grand Jury at the General Court of the Colony in 1643; Selectman, 1648; and Surveyor of Highways, 1649. He surveyed the land on which Norwalk, Connecticut, was settled, and in 1650 removed there, purchasing large tracts. He was a Deputy to the legislature in 1655. He is said to have married, first, Grace Wilson, who probably died in England, and second, Elizabeth, sister of John Gregory of Norwalk, Connecticut. He died at Norwalk and was buried there.

Richard Webb, Senior, and his son, Richard, Junior, have often been wrongly identified by writers on the family. The History of Norwalk, by Selleck, page 470, says of him: "He was eldering when he came to Norwalk, and himself and wife lived quite alone, his supposed only son, Richard Webb, Jr., having chosen Stamford for a residence." This was Richard, Junior, who accompanied his father to America, as has been said. Another son, Joseph, has been attributed to Richard Webb, Senior, but this is probably an error, that Joseph being a son of Richard Webb of Weymouth, Massachusetts, who removed to Boston about 1644 and died July 2, 1659. His son, Joseph, Junior, born in 1640, lived in Boston and had children, Joseph, born in 1666; Mary; and Sarah, who married John Marshall. This Richard

[1]Data concerning Richard Webb of the First Generation in America has been taken from a manuscript furnished by Doctor George Francis Webb of Cleveland, Ohio (1899); and "Ancient Historical Records of Norwalk," by Edwin Hall, among other sources.

Webb of Weymouth probably descended from one of the brothers of Richard Webb of the first generation in America, of the lineage here set forth, two of them, as has been said, having settled in Massachusetts. It appears, from the records which have been studied, that Richard Webb of Norwalk, Connecticut, left only one child, namely, his son, Richard Webb, Junior, who came with him to America. His widow, Elizabeth (Gregory) Webb, died January 24, 1680. In the record of her death she is called "formerly of Norwalk."[2]

Child of Richard and Grace (Wilson) Webb:

2 Richard Webb.

NOTE: The following "Notes on the Webb Family," by Reverend Benjamin Webb, which appeared in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, Volume XXVI, Number 4, October, 1895, are here quoted.

" . . . Motcomb is given as the locality in Dorsetshire, England, to which the family is traced . . there are two distinct places bearing this name, . . both located in Dorset. . . It has been . . . stated that Richard (Webb) spent the latter part of his life as a resident of Stamford, Conn., and that he died there in 1676, it being assumed that . . . there was but one who bore this name, the same one who emigrated from England in 1626, and that he lived till fifty years afterwards . . . Again we find in the History of Stamford,[3] mention made of another Richard, as having settled there in 1654, or about that time, and as being probably the son of the former Richard . . . The same authority makes mention of his father's will, as dated in 1655. . . . . As the younger Richard is said to have settled, about the year 1654, in Stamford (then being newly settled, in the vicinity of Norwalk), it is further suggested that he probably came there to live at his father's instance . . . At once he is found residing there as the proprietor of the Stamford mill. 'He is not mentioned in his father's will of date 1655.'[3] Might not the latter of these . . circumstances be explained . . upon the supposition that he had already received his inheritance? In fine, these conclusions are assumed as probable that it was the elder Richard whose will was dated in 1655; that he died in 1656, his widow surviving him and living in Norwalk till 1680; and that it was his son, Richard, . . still living in 1667, whose will, giving his wife's name as Margery, was dated March 7, 1676, and who died a few days after this last-mentioned date."

[3]By Rev. E. B. Huntington. [In a record which has been given, it appears that Elizabeth, relict of Richard Webb, Senior, was not living in Norwalk at the time of her death, as she is then called "formerly of Norwalk."]

2 RICHARD[2] WEBB (Richard[1]) was born at Bearly, Warwickshire, England, in 1611. He died March 15, 1675, at Stamford, Connecticut. In 1629 he accompanied his father and uncles to Massachusetts, and lived at Braintree, later removing to Connecticut, and settling at Stamford about 1654. He may have been there earlier, for Robert Brigg of Stamford sold to Richard Webb a house and land there in 1651. He represented the town in the General Court as early as 1667. In a deposition made by him November 22, 1667, he gave his age as then "forty-four or thereabouts." This would make his birth year 1623, but other records state that he was born in 1611. He built a flouring mill at Stamford, and also owned mills at Greenwich, Connecticut, and at Huntington, Long Island, then included under the jurisdiction of Connecticut. He married Margery ———, and by her had ten children, the youngest of whom, Jonathan, was born a short time after his father's death. The will of Richard Webb of Stamford was dated "7, 1, 1675-6, that is, March 7, 1675-6. It was probated in Fairfield County on March 15 following. The Inventory of his estate was dated April 29, 1676. The legatees were his wife, Margery; his sons, Joseph, who received the mill in Stamford; Richard, who received the "uplands at Westcott;" Joshua, who took the lands in Newfield, and tools which were at Huntington; Caleb and Samuel, whose legacies were in care of their mother, and his daughter, Sarah. His first five children were born at Braintree, Massachusetts, and the last five at Stamford, Connecticut.

WEBB APPENDIX

WEBB APPENDIX

The biographical accounts of some members of the Webb family, as given in this Appendix, were furnished the publishers too late for inclusion in the main body of "The Webb Family." They were supplied by Harrison Emmett Webb, Esquire, of Summit, New Jersey, who is recorded below, under Number 118. The publishers believe all Webb descendants owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Webb for the valuable data contributed by him. He also gave information on details concerning members of the family recorded in the foregoing history of the Webb family; and this information has there been included.

The distinguishing Numbers, noted below, for members of the family described in this Appendix as heads of families, make it easy to trace these persons' lineages back to Richard Webb, first American ancestor. MEIGS FAMILY

FIRST GENERATION

Meigs

MEIGS FAMILY

FIRST GENERATION

The original, or earliest-known, home of the family from which all branches, or very nearly all, certainly, descend, was the County of Kent, in England. The name was and is spelled, Meggs, generally, in England; but the form of Meigs also is used, and this is so, almost invariably, in America.

William Meggs is recorded, about 1519, as of Canterbury, in Kent. His son, Thomas Meggs, resided at Downham, Isle of Ely, in Cambridgeshire. This Thomas had a son, Nicholas Meggs, who married Jane Peverel. Through this marriage, Bradford Peverel, in the County of Dorset, came into possession of the Meggs family. The eldest son of Nicholas and Jane (Peverel) Meggs was Lawrence. The theory has been advanced that this Lawrence was father of Vincent Meggs (Meigs), founder of this lineage in America. This, however, is impossible, from the dates, and there appears no evidence that the said Lawrence had a son named Vincent. The only son of Lawrence, whose birth-year is recorded in Hutchins' History of Dorset, was Christopher Meggs. He was born in 1655. It is incredible that he should have had a brother born some seventy-five years earlier, for Vincent Meigs, the American colonist, is believed to have been born about 1580, and it is certain that he must have been born at about that period. He came to America from Dorchester, in Dorset, and it seems strongly indicated that he belonged by descent to the Meggs of Bradford Peverel, Dorsetshire.

The Coat-Armor of that family is blazoned:

Arms—Or, a chevron azure between three mascles gules, on a chief of the last a wolf passant argent.

Crest—A talbot's head erased sable.

These Arms are thus blazoned in the Herald's Visitation of Dorsetshire, made in 1623, and published in modern times by the Harleian Society of London. Hutchins, in his well-known History of Dorset, gives the same blazon, except that he describes the mascles of the Arms as azure, rather than gules. Burke's General Armory (edition of 1851) records a slightly altered blazon for these Arms. As already mentioned, the Meggs family of Bradford Peverel, in Dorset, derived from the Meggs family of County Kent. This derivation is shown plainly by comparison of the Coats borne by the Kent and Dorset branches of the family. That of the Kent line is very ancient, being Crestless, and, doubtless, was used by the ancestors of the Bradford Peverel Meggs family, prior to 1250, at about which time Crests first appear in English heraldry.

This ancient Coat-of-Arms of the Meggs (Meigs) family is blazoned: Or, a chevron sable between three mascles gules, a chief argent. The Arms reproduced in this history of the Meigs family are those blazoned, as above noted, for Meggs of Bradford Peverel, Dorsetshire, in the Visitation of Dorset made in 1623.

1 VINCENT[1] MEIGS was born about 1580 in County Dorset, England, perhaps at or near Dorchester, from whence he came to America. In 1637, with his son, John, the latter's wife, Tamazine, and their two infant daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, and his sons, Vincent and Mark, he sailed for New England, first settling at Weymouth, Massachusetts. His wife, whose maiden surname was Churchill, had died before his coming to America. In 1638 Vincent Meigs removed from Massachusetts to Guilford, Connecticut, where he lived on the border of the Common, which at the present time, with its beautiful trees, is probably little changed from its appearance when he lived there. Later, about 1654, he settled in East Guilford, which became the town of Madison, in the locality known as Hammonassett, his homestead being on the identical spot later owned and occupied by his descendant, the author of this Genealogy. Vincent Meigs died December 1, 1658, and was buried in the Hammonassett Cemetery at Madison.
